The Fourth of August 1917 2. If you would rather be more abstemious then or would like to dip a nervous toe in the water then go for Volumes 1 and 4 first.

Up Front Album for Oboe

Speyer, Ridghurst Boosey 42 1901 incidental music for a play by and , for orchestra and contralto soloist 1. He studied composition with Jaroslav Řidký at the Prague Conservatory and went on to the master classes of both Řidký and Jaroslav Křička. The quintet joins other illustrious members of the genre as a large-scale work, almost symphonic in scope, with immediate appeal and a high seriousness of purpose -until, that is, the jazz elements with which the composer admits a preoccupation enter in the finale, as skilfully grafted into a concert piece as any other example that comes to mind.

Reinhold GLIERE The Gliere Orchestral Collection

He studied composition at that city's Franz Liszt Academy of Music with János Viski. Afterwards taking master classes there with Josef Suk for composition and Václav Talich for conducting before private composition study with Alois Hába. His numerous works for guitar - solo, in ensemble, chamber music and concertos - brought him worldwide recognition.
