35+ Chief Joseph Quotes From The Influential Nez Perce Leader by Kidadl

Joseph and his people occupied the Imnaha or Grande Ronde valley in Oregon, which was considered perhaps the finest land in that part of the country. Nevertheless, our ancestors fought for us to be here today. Drummers sang seven sets of seven songs, as is traditional in the blessing ceremony.

100 years after forced removal, Nez Perce people celebrate reclaimed land

Depredations were committed, and finally the Indians, or some of them, retaliated, which was just what their enemies had been looking for.

Chief Joseph's surrender speech

Many Nez Percés—eventually a majority—moved to the reservation; but a large minority resisted, and Joseph emerged as their leading spokesman. Indeed, just before the resettlement was to happen, his band launched an attack, killing several white men. The General said that every word of it was true.

Chief Joseph: A great Nez Perce Leader

Over the next months, Chief Joseph and his 700 followers actually embarked on a 1400 mile journey to Canada. Some say he died of a broken heart, of sadness from seeing his homeland in such a state. He visited alongside other tribal leaders including former secretary Rachel Edwards, executive leader Quincy Ellenwood, cultural resource director Nakia Williamson-Cloud and land enterprise manager Kim Cannon.
