Persecution of Muslims in Myanmar

On April 20, 1996, fifteen Burmese Muslims, part of a group of 150 who were seeking asylum in Bangladesh, drowned in the Naf river as they were being towed back to Burma by the Bangladesh Border Rifles, a branch of the Bangladesh army. Based on many evidences, the investigation concluded that Myanmar government agents have been involved in triggering anti-Muslim riots. The first volume remains imprinted in my brain; it's the mixtape from the older brother I never had.

Human trafficking happens mostly to women who are unemployed and have low incomes. At this stage of the war, the Allies lacked the means and tactical ability to overcome strongly constructed Japanese bunkers. Both Bose and Mutaguchi emphasised the advantages which would be gained by a successful attack into India.
