Saundarya Lahari Trust

She who is the purple luster of the dawn, To the lotus forest like mind, Of the kings of poets of the world, And thus called Aruna-the purple coloured one, Creates happiness in the mind of the holy, With tender passionate wave of words , Of Sarswathi the darling of Brahma, Which are royal and youthful.

So the lotus like feet, Taking recourse to the musical sound, Produced by gems in your anklets, Appears to teach them what they want. Sri Guru Karunamaya has been practicing and teaching Sri Vidya for the last 40 years. Hey daughter of the ice mountain, He who chooses to describe, Your crown ,bedecked with shining jewels, Which are but the transformed form, And arranged very close to one another, Of the twelve holy suns, Will see the crescent in your crown, In the dazzling light of those jewels, And think them as a rainbow, Which is but the bow of Indra.

Saundarya Lahari Verses in Sanskrit, English with Commentary

But only your mother Never show the world in detail, The boons and refuge that you can give, For even your holy feet will suffice, To remove fear forever, And grant boons much more than asked. Your face makes fun of the beauty of the lotus. Oh, first among chaste woman, Except Lord Shiva your consort.

Saundarya Lahari Lyrics in English With Meaning

Your two holy feet are far above, The fifty six rays of the essence of earth of Mooladhara, The fifty two rays of the essence of water of Mani pooraka, The sixty two rays of the essence of fire of Swadhishtana, The fifty four rays of the essence of air of Anahatha, The seventy two rays of the essence of ether of Visuddhi, And the sixty four rays of the essence of mind of Agna chakra. There are three additional verses, found as verses 101 through 103, which are considered to be interpolations of other scholars, but are included in recensions of the whole work. The tendril like smoke emanated from there, And mother, people think, That this is the line of hair, That climbs from your navel upwards.

Saundarya Lahari Verses in Sanskrit, English with Commentary

॥ 61 ॥ Oh Goddess, who is the flag of the clan of Himalayas, Let your nose which is like a thin bamboo, Give us the blessings which are apt and near. Oh, Goddess , who is the consort of Shiva, Let the darkness of our mind be destroyed, By the crowning glory on your head, Which is of like the forest of opened blue lotus flowers, And which is soft , dense and shines with luster. Oh, She who is refuge to all this world, All gods except you mother, Give refuge and grants wishes, Only by their hand.

Soundarya Lahari

॥ 95 ॥ Many poets reach the Goddess of learning, The wife of the creator, By composing soulful poems. So thine lotus like feet, Taking recourse to the musical sound, Produced by gems in your anklets, Appears to teach them what they want. I believe my mother, That you never shut your eyes, So that this world created by you, Never , ever faces deluge.
