What is new is, that additionally the bundeswehr will buy some 60mm Mortars and will incorporate them into this mortar platoons. One of the striking differences between the American Revolution and most modern independence movements is that the former was not based on ethnic or nationalistic justifications. On the one hand, the reason they assimilated so quickly into a Scottish Regiment was there was a strong tradition for them to identify with.

The Military Revolution of Limits and the Changing Character of War

The Australian army is capable to field a division with three brigades and support units, capable of deploying and operating without the need to assemble reserve units. But technological breakthroughs, such as the Haber-Bosch Process or the Green Revolution of the 1960s, have done only that: pushed the reckoning into the future, while the pressure of population growth redoubles the scale of the problem for the next time.

Vivien Williams

This merging is to be facilitated in perspective by using the same material that is procured via armaments clusters.
