Her work shows how gendered power is multi-scalar and is at work in various ways and at various levels.

Amorphous and nanocrystalline materials for applications as soft magnets

Using the case of a village in northern Vietnam, this chapter examines the ways in which policy reforms and other factors have affected villagers' management of mangrove forests, and how women and men have responded to national policy reforms. The concluding section suggests alternatives for Giao Lac's mangrove management, a mechanism that would promote social equity as well as productivity and sustainability. The reason was that exclusion from the most lucrative activity, shrimp trading, could not be compensated for by trading other coastal products.

Port

Local silk varieties are easy to take care of and are disease-tolerant. .

Port

The thread produced is sold to Silk Net for further distribution. Has nothing to do with engineering, but it sounds good. This class-based and gender-based hierarchical framework dominated the village in all aspects from the household to the communal levels.

the value of a cadd manager/tech

I'm talking about an engineering designer. In three of these, both husbands and wives were engaged in the trade.
