The forerunners of IACS, however, stretch back even further than IUGG, starting with the formation of the Commission Internationale des Glaciers CIG by the International Geological Congress in 1894.

Glacial Geoengineering and the Law of Antarctica

From the early 2000s Trevor Chinn became a consultant under the name Alpine and Polar Processes Consultancy, working from his home at township, Central Otago.

Presentations

The alpine zone extends above the orographic snowline approximately 2000 m above sea level. The Djankuat River water has a low salinity. You can explore more about Glacier Hydrology in this excellent ArcGIS Story about.

ShieldSquare

Developing these projects beyond the initial stages of scientific investigation would therefore require significant revisions to the ATS.
