

Acquisition of technological capability in Africa - a case study of indigenous building materials firms in Nigeria

African Technology Policy Studies Network - The US

Description: -

- Acquisition of technological capability in Africa - a case study of indigenous building materials firms in Nigeria

-

no. 33.

ATPS working paper ;

no. 33

ATPS working paper series ; Acquisition of technological capability in Africa - a case study of indigenous building materials firms in Nigeria

Notes: Includes bibliographical references (p. [55]-[57]).

This edition was published in 2002

Filesize: 35.38 MB

Tags: #Conclusion

Absorptive capacity, marketing capabilities, and innovation commercialisation in Nigeria

International donors strongly influence a range of areas pertinent to innovation: shaping research agendas, assisting with capacity building in STI, and often forming the major markets for products. Close to 90% of practitioners claimed that they willingly chose the trade and were not forced into it as a result of family attachment or any other factor.

BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION FREE UNDERGRADUATE PROJECT TOPICS AND RESEARCH MATERIALS

Nevertheless, it has wielded great economic potential to renew and sustain the interest of the present generation of practitioners.

The US

The professional background of the heads of technical departments was captured through three variables.

BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION FREE UNDERGRADUATE PROJECT TOPICS AND RESEARCH MATERIALS

In Section 2 we examine the concepts of indigenous technologies, innovation and SMEs as well as their complementarities.

Related Books

- Embattled ladies of Little Rock - 1958-1963, the struggle to save public education at Central High
- Uchenie Risharda Dobrodushnago, ili, Sposob platit' nalogi - s prilozheniem Kratkago zhizneopisani
- Isle Ristol - Archaeological evaluation and recommendations for management
- Instrumentation relating to mechanical engineering
- Research in philosophy & technology. Supplement