The emerged on the southern coast around 300 BC. Why they were put here or what they mean is up for debate; there are numerous theories about their origins.

History of Peru

Without the support of the APRA party, Bustamante y Rivero found his presidency severely limited. The procedure was to remove a section of bone in the center of the depressed area and raise the depressed edges surrounding that area. Located in the Supe Valley, some 113 miles north of Lima, this once-thriving 5,000-year-old metropolis contains monumental and residential man-made architecture.

The World's Oldest Civilizations

But one possible explanation for this is that the did not survive as archaeological material, as the art may have been made on perishable material. We are particularly concerned with the type of men that were capable of such great achievement, since they were required to carry forward their great undertakings without the use of iron or the wheel.
