and sexual violence is an effect of our separate male and female enculturations--in other words, our homosocialization. The fact that it does--and in the United States a rape is reported every six minutes--indicates that we live in a rape-prone culture where rape or the threat of rape functions as a tool for enforcing sexual difference and hierarchy. In: Singer P, Kuhse H, Buckle S, Dawson K, Kasimba P eds Embryo experimentation: ethical, social and legal issues.

Rape and representation (Book, 1991) [perssongroup.materialsproject.org]

Together the women have elevated an art of ethics and empathy above aesthetics and dramatic tension as they turn the traditional and male representations of rape inside out to display, effigize, mimic, and analogize the ravaged and broken bodies that betray the real-life effects of rape.
