285. Elegy. (Written in a Country Churchyard). Thomas Gray. 1909

Kevin enjoys a special sense of accomplishment whenever he completes a literary analysis. In this poem, Gray talks about the death and the lives of the middle-class people, the poem follows all the conventions of the elegiac tradition.

Thomas Gray

How bow'd the woods beneath their sturdy stroke! Therefore, there may be a ruler or a poet buried in there. The church bell is ringing. These are the very qualities we might predict in the writer, from the style of his verse.

Elegy Written In A Country Churchyard Poem by Thomas Gray

Fair Science frowned not on his humble birth, And Melacholy marked him for her own.

453. Elegy written in a Country Churchyard. Thomas Gray. The Oxford Book of English Verse

This is the only reason Gray agreed to publish it: it was going to be published anyway, with or without his say-so. Gray explains the disturbance death causes on so many levels.
