

Life of Lieutenant-General Sir Henry Evelyn Wood

Sampson Low, Marston & Co. - Biographies: Evelyn Wood

Description: -

-

Generals -- Great Britain -- Biography.

Marshals -- Great Britain -- Biography.

Great Britain. -- Army -- Biography.

Wood, Evelyn -- Sir, -- 1838-1919. life of Lieutenant-General Sir

Henry Evelyn Wood

- life of Lieutenant-General Sir Henry Evelyn Wood

Notes: Includes index.

This edition was published in 1892

Filesize: 63.69 MB

Tags: #Southern #Command #(United #Kingdom)

Evelyn Wood (British Army officer)

During the campaign, Evelyn Wood became ill from War Office work. After retiring from active service he took a leading part, as chairman of the Association for the City of London, in the organization of the Territorial Force. He also sustained bad injuries from hunting accidents, a sport that he was addicted to.

Aldershot Military Cemetery

I believe he is helping carrying the coffin in that image of the video, i believe he's the 3rd from the left i think this is him because he looks like my Dad from behind! By April 15, 1857, he had recovered sufficiently to return to England.

1911 Encyclopædia Britannica/Wood, Sir Henry Evelyn

He was made Sirdar of the Egyptian army until 1885, during which period he thoroughly reorganized it. Despite protests from the doctor, Wood discharged himself from the hospital. His three sons also served in the war.

Sir Henry Wood

One Hundred Terms at Gresham's School. With the help of a and a , he rescued a local merchant from a band of robbers who had taken their captive into the jungle, where they had intended to hang him. The 2nd Brigade did not take part in any other major actions of the campaign, and were given as Wood would bemoan the less than arduous task of guarding the port of Alexandria.

Southern Command (United Kingdom)

He returned again in 1881 as second-in-command to Maj. With his political life and his health essentially ruined, Parnell dies at the age of 45 in on October 6, 1891 in her arms, less than four months after their marriage. For the next nine months he worked and fought, subsisting chiefly on a diet of rotten biscuit, raw salt pork, and rum.

Biographies: Evelyn Wood

On January 22, a Zulu force had overrun the camp of No. As Wood tried to have the bodies of his friends hoisted up onto baggage animals, his party came under heavy fire and most of the ponies were killed. A beautiful series of illustrative plates engraved by J.

Evelyn Wood

In addition, 17 victims of the of May 1957 are buried in the cemetery, as well as over 50 of both world wars, plus the graves of Poles, South Africans, Gurkhas, Belgians, Dutch, New Zealanders and one , amongst others. But he was in favour with the politicians and with the Queen.

Biographies: Evelyn Wood

But at Inkerman, when he was 16, his arm was shattered by enemy case-shot.

Related Books

- Southern Sudan - battles fought and the secrecy of diplomacy
- Zeeland toen
- Guft o shunid
- Microwave horns and feeds
- Old Mardisville, Lebanon & Centre Land Office records & military warrants, 1834-1860