

Intraregional labour mobility and agricultural development in the Near East - phenomenon, impact, and policy implications.

Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations - International investments in Agriculture in Arab Countries: an overview and implications for policy

Description: -

-
Labor mobility -- Government policy -- Middle East.
Migrant remittances -- Middle East.
Agricultural laborers -- Middle East -- Supply and demand.
Labor mobility -- Middle East. Intraregional labour mobility and agricultural development in the Near East - phenomenon, impact, and policy implications.

-
94
FAO economic and social development paper ; Intraregional labour mobility and agricultural development in the Near East - phenomenon, impact, and policy implications.

Notes: Includes bibliographical references (p. 65-68).

This edition was published in 1990

Filesize: 22.15 MB

Tags: #What #is #the #most #suitable #methodological #approach #to #demarcate #peri

Is South

Millions of workers, often accompanied by their family members, including young children began walking back to their villages--often thousands of miles away. They argue that a labour reform process must bring the protection of migrant workers to the centre of its agenda by strengthening institutional mechanisms for holding employers liable for violations of their labour rights.

Labour Migration, Vulnerability, and Development Policy: The Pandemic as Inflection Point?

Cite this article Srivastava, R. Relative to sourcing non-EU migrants, using EU free movers to address labor shortages significantly reduces costs for public administrations and employers in the countries of destination.

What is the most suitable methodological approach to demarcate peri

For higher education to remain relevant — and funded — it needs to prove and support its links to employment. Since the 1960s, nativist political parties have claimed that migrants threaten Marathi culture and usurp job opportunities, residential space, and amenities that rightfully belong to the local Maharashtrian population.

Article: Under Lockdown Amid COVID

Long-term migrants in cities comprise either those who totally belong to the urban milieu or have largely extracted themselves from their rural roots. Civil-Society Interventions In a scenario where the responses from the state and market have not contributed much to the welfare of migrant workers, civil-society organizations have been able to come up with solutions that have helped enhance returns from migration.

COVID

According to one study, 90 percent of laborers in the construction industry are internal migrants. The neglect of labour migrants in policies is not a benign neglect, arising due to their accidental invisibility, and lack of adequate information regarding migration flows and numbers. Politico Europe, April 27, 2020.

Intraregional labour mobility and agricultural development in the Near East (1990 edition)

The paper historically traces the causes of dispossession of agrarian producers, ranging from land acquisition, peasant differentiation as agriculture commercialises, and rural distress and agrarian crisis.

The impact and implications of migrant workers on Karawang, West Java, Indonesia

ADVERTISEMENTS: International capital flows are prohibited or severely limited by different governments. Authors have also argued for a comprehensive and universal social security and social protection system as recommended by the National Commission for Enterprises in the Unorganised Sector NCEUS ,.

Related Books

- Den bildenden Kuensten geweiht - 150 Jahre Kunsthalle Bremen : das Buch zur Baugeschichte
- De lo inerte a la cuarta evolución - ensayo sobre la historia del ser vivo
- Listen, Germany! Twenty-five radio messages to the German people over BBC.
- Louis XIV's view of the papacy \(1661-1667\)
- Cinq épîtres rimées dans l'appendice des formules de Sens - codes Parisinus latinus 4627, fol. 27v-29