The Dead Woman of Deptford by Ann Granger

I had just finished too books that were violent and this was very refreshing to read after them.

The editors have done a great job in collecting together a wide scope of titles from a very diverse array of crime authors. But perhaps my favorite essays are by writers who reminisce about authors whom they have met and with whom they have a special connection: Joseph Wambaugh on his fellow true-crime novelist Truman Capote, and Linwood Barclay on his fellow Canadian detective novelist Kenneth Millar also known as Ross Macdonald. He notes, however, that Claudia appears nervous, insisting that their rented cottage in Balnacoil is haunted and things have gone missing.

Denzil, performed by Joanne Froggatt. So get your hands on this book and devour it. The awards began in 1946 and are named in honor of Edgar Allan Poe.

Books to Die For by John Connolly

Ann Granger is known for her detective series. It is here that Chief Inspector Ross takes his long-overdue vacation, fishing on the river Spey. This must be my favourite of the series so far.

Sergeant Hathaway

Her most recent dates have gone from bad to worse, and when her dating app informs her there is no one left in her area to choose from, she is at a dead end. . As Elizabeth Bright, we have the Card Making Mystery Series, and as Chris Cavender, the Pizza Mystery Series.

Books to Die For by John Connolly

This time, Ben is summoned to Newgate Prison to hear testimony from a man about to be hanged the next day. Celtic rains wrap everything in an eerie light they call the gloaming. Retired police officer Adam Hennessey, hoping for a peaceful life running his traditional Somerset country pub, finds himself drawn into the unfolding drama in the hotel across the road.
