Could an independent Wales go it alone?

Many women are underemployed or stuck in part time work when they would rather a full time position.

Sustainable Wales

All of the opportunities identified below will only be supported at environmentally appropriate locations. Working with the agriculture community to promote river corridor fencing and tree planting to help stabilise riverbanks will help reduce bank erosion and will contribute to natural flood risk management. They want Improvements to A483 Junctions at Wrexham A5156 for the A534 and Wrexham Industrial Estate, A541 for Mold and the A525 for Ruthin which will open up development land and ease congestion for traffic moving to and from the Midlands on the corridor.

Ramblers Cymru - £71,200 To identify and develop local walking routes which would adopt the Visit Wales branding and attract greater visitor numbers to the area, increasing visitor spend.

Natural Resources Wales / Climate and environment emergency

His mother moved to the village from Sutton Coldfield in the Midlands shortly before he was born. Bev Wilkins, a former businesswoman, launches a ball down the beach for her beloved German shepherd rescue dog, Lottie. Portfolio Director Alwen Williams is confident the business cases put forward to both governments will meet these targets and spark a sustainable economic and social resurgence when the country needs it most.
