Hoc certe probat ipsius animae quamvis non christianae testimonio Tertullianus lib. The cardinals, all but one of whom agreed to support the subtraction at that time, had argued for recognition of papal provisions still outstanding they themselves held many of them and for maintenance of the fiscal rights of the Camera in which they shared, and while Simon had explored these possibilities in his treatise, and in his speech at the Council, he had also explored the Gallican solutions; in the end he accepted the latter, no doubt because he had to.

Ingrederere, sancte Ioannes, ingrederere, et conside cum fratribus tuis, a quibus te nulla ratio et nulla temptatio separavit. Concupiscit enim terrenam quandam pro rebus infinis pacem; ad eam namque desiderat pervenire bellando; quoniam si uicerit et qui resistat non fuerit, pax erit, quam non habebant partes in uicem aduersantes et pro bis rebus, quas simul habere non poterant, infelici egestate certantes. Et in libro secundo: Homo enim ipse, inquam, in quantum homo est, aliquod bonum est, quia recte vivere cum vult potest 92.

(1983) III.2 Magister meus frater Thomas de Aquino

Sed ne forte vel tu, vel quispiam dicat: Quomodo de arbore quam facit homo, id est, voluntate bona non fiunt fructus mali; et de natura quam facit Deus, ipsa quae faciat fructus malos, nascitur arbor mala: quasi aliquid melius faciat homo, unde non possit malus fructus existere; quam est illud quod facit Deus, unde possit mala arbor existere? Quae non rapui, tunc exsolvebam dicit: Primus homo et diabolus voluerunt rapere divinitatem, et amiserunt felicitatem. » Profecto inanis prorsus haec est subtilitas in praesidium haereticorum adinventata.
