Interconnected News

A collection of quotes from contemporary and historic Friends about living out the Quaker testimony of simplicity and related values. Did you know that prologues are always the hardest part of a sermon? So we did, and within 5 months we had to add a second service, and then a Wednesday night Bible study, a Monday night study for men and for women, and then a prayer group that met on Sunday nights. This morning I went to wake him up and get him out of the crib.
