BTEC Curriculum Resources

Our qualifications combine knowledge and practical application, which allows learners to progress to higher education or go straight into employment. BTECs are quickly becoming a popular alternative to A levels, and cover a range of academic levels.

BTEC Curriculum Resources

The table below details a breakdown of GCSE Points. We also offer pre-entry and entry level courses, and on completion of these you can go on to study at Level 1. Please see the table below for a further breakdown.

Guide to BTEC Qualifications

How do BTEC qualifications work? In addition, the courses may well suit those students who demonstrate their talents best through ongoing assessment rather than in high stakes examinations.

Guide to Qualification Assessment — Tytherington School

What is a course level and how do you choose the correct level for you? Other students may receive award combinations such as Merit, Merit, Pass. The number of units varies according to the design and focus of each qualification, and all students complete realistic work-based assignments, which are internally assessed. BTEC stands for 'Business and Technology Education Council', which used to run the award, first introduced in 1984.

Guide to BTEC Qualifications

Qualifications There are a range of different qualification types; this is the qualification you receive on completion of your course. BTEC qualifications are fully recognised as holding equivalences to GCSEs and A Levels dependent upon the level of BTEC qualification taken , and can be used towards the UCAS points needed for an university application. You can still apply if you are a mature student and have work experience in the area you wish to study or other qualifications — these may gain you additional credit and will be considered in your application to our courses.
