The future of the European Union 3: in search of peace and prosperity

The European Union was once recognised as one of the greatest achievements for the promotion of economic prosperity and the guarantee of peace in Europe. In embarking on this plan, the six founders hoped to greatly diminish the chances of another catastrophic conflict in Europe by binding their economies together, controlling the raw materials of war, and promoting political reconciliation especially between France and Germany. Despite some tensions over the years, the United States and the EU share a dynamic political partnership on various foreign policy issues and an extensive trade and investment relationship.
