Process Evaluation and Impact Evaluation

The incidence and severity of adverse events affecting patients after discharge from the hospital. London, England: Health and Social Care Joint Unit and Change Agents Team; 2003. If data are collected over a long period, the same rules and definitions must be used throughout.

Integrated Programs' Logic Model Planning Process

Bowles KH, Foust JB, Naylor MD. However, hospitals are not precluded from obtaining a new IM and verifying signature from the beneficiary.

Process evaluation of an integrated model of discharge planning

The analysis should present the evidence that helps determine whether the program had its hypothesized effects and whether it resulted in any unintended effects. These seven-item will then be used in our next stage of study to apply and pilot in a hospital to confirm its applicability and practicability.

Early Discharge Planning and Improved Care Transitions: Pre

This led to better continuity and safer timely exchanges of information. The National Health Strategy, Quality and Fairness: Dublin, Ireland: Government Publication Office; 2001. A hospice physician or hospice nurse practitioner must have a face-to-face encounter with each hospice patient, whose total stay across all hospices is anticipated to reach the 3rd benefit period, no more than 30 calendar days prior to the 3rd benefit period recertification.

The Role of Effective Discharge Planning in Preventing Homelessness

Second, the timeliness of discharge summaries could not be assessed in all cases because the date when the discharge summary was received could not always be verified. The CMS guidelines provide that the appeal for expedited review must be made before the beneficiary leaves the hospital.

Discharge Planning

LeClerc M, Wells DL: Process evaluation of an integrated model of discharge planning. Nursing Standard; 19: 17, 40-43. Due to the lack of a statement in clarifying the role of the members of the healthcare professional team, one additional statement on the role and responsibility of the multidisciplinary team members was added.

Integrated Programs' Logic Model Planning Process

It should be known to all relevant care givers and family members. In developing the consensus framework for an effective discharge planning, the Delphi methodology - a systematic approach to engage a large number of experts in a process to derive consensus in a group by rating the research framework- was adopted in this study. The few studies that have examined outcomes of discharge planning quantitatively have mixed results.
