Charles Tripp (runholder)

Wood and Chisnall worked the Sand Hills Run as a dairy station, and supplied Christchurch with milk. At the rear, the large two storey weatherboard service wing, added in 1910, features a hipped roof and its design is simpler overall. Jessy had a keen interest in the homestead's garden, developing it and introducing many of the plants and shrubs which continue there today.

Early Canterbury Runs

FitzGerald worked the Springs as a cattle and dairy station. This fourth edition of 1975 was extensively revised by W H Scotter and incorporated annotations by G R Macdonald.

Geraldine Events Calendar

For bookings contact the station on 03 696 3738. Aitken, who with his brother J. All of the stations were provided with goods facilities, with the largest yard at Elham.

Disused Stations: Canterbury South Station

This is the location of the present homestead. Orari Gorge Station is strongly associated with the Tripp family, and descendants of Charles Tripp, the original owner of Orari Gorge Station, who retain ownership of the station today.
