Commodities paid in kind included coal, timber, chemical dyes, pharmaceuticals, livestock, agricultural machines, construction materials, and factory machinery. According to the Russian Federation, for the first time in decades the concept of a non-nuclear-weapon world had near-unanimous support from the leaders of all major industrialized countries.

A short history of the International Peace Bureau: 1990

In return for these services, people will listen to them. As the United States recruits and solidifies this network, the people in the countries that we are working with -- primarily developing countries -- are recruited into a classical great power view of the world in which Might Makes Right and that's the bottom-line and there is no humaneness. During the general debate of the First Committee, the primary issues that emerged were the use of small arms and light weapons and continued support for the creation of an Arms Trade Treaty.
