Art Put large pumpkin shapes on the easel. Kathy in Las Vegas Very beautifully told and educational. Extend this by bringing in pictures of real animals from magazines and asking the children to name the animal and where it might live.

Reading the Story When you get to the page where Mousekin saw something in the path left over from Halloween, ask the children if they can guess what it might have been? This book is out of print, and I'd like to find a used copy somewhere to keep. Spine creases, wear to binding and pages from reading. Very beautifully told and educational.

Mousekin's Golden House book by Edna Miller

It's really about a relationship between a mouse and its house which happens to be a Jack-O-Lantern. The details show the animals very realistically. Accessories such as CD, codes, toys, may not be included.

Mousekin's Golden House by Edna Miller (1964)

Very minimal damage to the cover including scuff marks, but no holes or tears. I love the Mousekin series. The story is simple: A mouse uses a discarded jack'o'lantern as a hiding place and then home.
