The Second Aliyah (1904)

Israel is a place where an indigenous people have reclaimed their land and revived their ancient language, despite being surrounded by hostile neighbors and hounded by radicalized Arab nationalists who cannot tolerate any political entity in the region other than their own. An eye-popping 408 voted to reject the pro-Israel resolution while 155 urged its acceptance.

The primary system participatory within the parties, while the prime ministerial ballot increased the power of smaller parties, further splintering the composition of the Knesset and making governing coalitions more difficult to maintain. In late 2003 Prime Minister proposed a new, unilateral approach based on the notion that Israel had no partner in peace and entailing a withdrawal from the Gaza Strip and parts of the West Bank. Russia also has further reduced its oil deliveries to the Czech Republic.
