Proms 2021 20th

The buff who had tired of stereophonic trains seeming to go from one loudspeaker to another and of ping-pong sound effects then warmed to the audio dream of a massive orchestra playing its heart out with Rózsa buccinas in Roman epics and superb Viking horns in Mario Nascimbenes music for The Vikings. The tunes are wonderful, too - especially 'Florence's Sad Song'. This was a pretty isolated example.

His piece for orchestra: Cinéma: six tableaux symphoniques has the following movements: Douglas Fairbanks and Mary Pickford; Rudolph Valentino, Chaplin et les nymphes Hollywoodiennes, Walt Disney, Charlie Amoureux and Valse Finale. He started studying music when 8-years-old, and played as a member of bands by the time he was 13-years-old.

West Side Story songs have been covered many times but notable versions include jazz readings by the Oscar Peterson Trio and the Stan Kenton Orchestra, and the Pet Shop Boys' 1997 version of 'Somewhere'. All the better if this could be played through quadraphonic speakers. Rózsa rates a place here because of his five years in England and the rich scores he contributed to British cinema at that time.
