Armstrong was a black man, but what he did with jazz went passed racial prejudice. Bix Beiderbecke died and Fletcher Henderson's band broke up. Armstrong was featured as a guest artist with Lionel Hampton's band at the famed second Cavalcade of Jazz concert held at in Los Angeles which was produced by on October 12, 1946.

Young Satchmo

At six he attended the Fisk School for Boys, a school that accepted black children in the racially segregated system of New Orleans. In the den of his home, he had the latest audio equipment and would sometimes rehearse and record along with his older recordings or the radio. Eventually he took to using salves and creams on his lips and also cutting off scar tissue with a razor blade.

Young Satchmo

Excited as he was to be in Chicago, he began his career-long pastime of writing letters to friends in New Orleans.
