How to gain more from your reading

The large volume of textbooks and scholarly books that issue forth each year is clear evidence of the dynamic nature of the field. I hope you agree, and will add reading aloud to your repertoire of reading practices to deepen your pleasure. Once people complete their compulsory education, they may pursue further education in a variety of settings e.

Across the Lifespan

Using counseling applications, case studies, special topics boxes, and journal questions, the text introduces developmental theories and research within the context of clinical practice. The relation between participant age and recognition probability was moderated by author variables.

Effects of aging, word frequency, and text stimulus quality on reading across the adult lifespan: Evidence from eye movements

Some effects of aging can be thought of as interactions between an individual and an environment that unfold over time. It encourages students to examine how the interactions of the individual, environment, and task bring about changes in a person's movements. The purpose of this volume is to survey some of the best work going on in the field today and reflect what we know about reading as it unfolds across the life span.

It serves as a dedication to her contribution in the widening of the scope of research in metacognition and self-regulated learning.

9 Learning Across the Life Span

Furthermore, research on skill learning suggests that difficulty using newly trained skills—at least initially—should be expected, but after extensive practice people can be expected to execute complex tasks with expertise ;. Because the book is designed for graduate students, most topics, especially those that have special relevance to helping professionals, are covered in greater depth than in a typical life span text.

9 Learning Across the Life Span

Few common patterns in anatomical causes of dyscalculia, or math disabilities, have been identified. What are the best ways to approach instruction for different groups of readers—young beginning readers, poor readers with learning problems, and teenage and adult illiterates? Aging, Neuropsychology, and Cognition, 19, 122—149.
