Arbitration 2014 : the test of time : proceedings of the sixty

In the first part of the book the authors tackle the daunting task of articulating the architecture and function of international public policy, highlighting its domestic and transnational dimensions as well as procedural and substantive contours. Bray is a Barrister and Solicitor of the Law Society of Upper Canada. She is an international arbitration counsel and a SJD Candidate in the International Trade and Business Law Program at the University of Arizona.

International Arbitration and Public Policy

In the second part of the book, the authors tease out specific manifestations of the international public policy concept, addressing issues commonly seen in the application of the public policy concept in various jurisdictions and regions of the world, including the United States, Sweden, Switzerland, Ukraine, and East Asia, as well as under New York Convention. Brogan, Vici Peterson Cohen, Jane Devlin, and Michel G.
