Across the EU-28, the average NEET rate for young women aged 15 to 29 was 17. On the other hand, the structure of post-mandatory, professional education options affects the youth labor market transition.

Youth unemployment and active labor market policies in Europe

In publishing this book, the OECD therefore wishes to stimulate policy debate on the factors that encourage youth entrepreneurship, the obstacles that stand in its way and the policy measures that can support it. Emphasises that progress towards a sustainable, fair and inclusive social Europe requires a strong shared commitment, both to the advancement of the UN 2030 Agenda and to the implementation and materialisation of the principles and rights contained in the European Pillar of Social Rights; highlights that an ambitious political agenda with identifiable, feasible, sustainable, clear and mandatory targets and indicators of social sustainability must be designed; points out that the next EU Social Summit planned for May 2021 in Porto would be the perfect opportunity for adoption of this agenda at the highest political level by the leaders of the 27 Member States and of the European Council, the European Parliament and the European Commission; calls for the involvement of social partners throughout the process; Governance framework for social progress 4.

Fund for Youth Employment

The analysis is based on the findings presented in greater detail in a technical paper, European Commission 2016 'Analysis of the performance of Youth Guarantee in the EU Member States 2013-2015' publication forthcoming.

Youth Unemployment Causes and Solutions

The resulting increase in labour cost reduces the demand for workers, and thus also the employment rate, particularly among those individuals who are less attached to and less protected in the labour market, namely the young.

- EU: youth unemployment rate by country 2019

As terminating an open-ended contract is expensive and accompanied by legal complexity which causes great uncertainty, French firms increasingly rely on fixed-term contracts. In 2018, this share stood at 96. I-BEST students were more likely than others to: Continue into credit-bearing coursework; Earn credits that count toward a college credential; Earn occupational certificates; and Make point gains on basic skills tests.
