He seems to recommend the powder dentifrices as more efficacious. During the period of witch-hunting, midwifery was the only clinical profession in which women were allowed to practice, partly because its lower status did not attract male medical practitioners. We are integrating health and social care in Scotland to ensure people get the right care, at the right time and in the right place, and are supported to live well and as independently as possible.

Scotland's Inventions

The latter alone reached over 9,000 people through 240 events and engagements and with over 360,000 inputs through digital and social channels. It is the people who shape the system of education. He obtained a respectable share of private practice, and in 1770 was chosen physician to St.
