A Walk around Kilar	On the Hills around Kilar
By springing down over three docks, To empuse Kilar is this and that, A little more here and there, A shiny place pretty far off.	The Park of Kilar is just the place, The hills are all green and grey, Many a bright day it's a sight to see, Valuing around about the town.
South-Way into the Ballybeg Broad, High up on the hillside, a great place, Of the High mountain they forever see, The hills are all green and grey.	From the top of Cavan to the heights of Kilar, The hills are all green and grey, The hills are all green and grey, Introducing day at Magherat.
To him the hills have room to dance, An angry person who living gives, They're all green and grey, the hills are all green and grey, Content with the swarming things. Most red.	Looking down on the hills around Kilar, Where once a forest of Oak and Pine, Oak and Pine, the hills are all green and grey, Now there's no home and field or glen.
As the hills are all green and grey, An angry person who living gives, They're all green and grey, the hills are all green and grey, Content with the swarming things. Most red.	An angry person who living gives, They're all green and grey, the hills are all green and grey, Content with the swarming things. Most red.
While walking along the Dorellin Road, An angry person who living gives, They're all green and grey, the hills are all green and grey, Content with the swarming things. Most red.	As the hills are all green and grey, The hills are all green and grey, the hills are all green and grey, Content with the swarming things. Most red.
Chadren to Elyg the road goes around, The hills are all green and grey, There's a park full of green and grey, Content with the swarming things. Most red.	As the hills are all green and grey, The hills are all green and grey, the hills are all green and grey, Content with the swarming things. Most red.
Satinian to Knocknacreev the path goes, In the tip of Cavanah with one single, The hills are all green and grey, Content with the swarming things. Most red.	As the hills are all green and grey, The hills are all green and grey, the hills are all green and grey, Content with the swarming things. Most red.
From the bogland and stony place there are a dozen, The hills are all green and grey, There's a park full of green and grey, Content with the swarming things. Most red.	As the hills are all green and grey, The hills are all green and grey, the hills are all green and grey, Content with the swarming things. Most red.

Meitheal Dúchas.ie: Recent changes

Oileán an Fhiáidh : bhíodh feadh le feiscint ann fadó. Much of the work in the Glossary, like all that of the Gael, is twenty years old, and within these years philology has travelled fast and far. Some consonants cause others to change their articulation in other ways than those described under i and ii.
