Primary Health Care and England: The coming of age of Alma Ata?

A decision was taken to discourage membership of mental illness nurses, who stayed with the Confederation of Health Service Employees COHSE. Reports from the USA that they cured colds were examined by the MRC; the drugs were valueless. Some GPs were clearly discouraged when they saw the lines round the walls where greasy heads had rested or the marks of nailed boots on the floor.

Policy papers and consultations

There is no qualifying period for this, or any other working time right, because the law seeks to ensure both a balance between work and life, and that people have enough rest and leisure to promote better physical and psychological.

The Cost Incidence of the U.K.'s NHS System
