National vocational qualifications (NVQs) from the candidate's perspective

Method Secondary sources such as personal accounts, or accounts of other people interviewing were used for this qualitative analysis. SVT offer NVQ courses at a wide range of competency levels across a variety of subjects, including Health and Safety, Social Care, Management and Mental Health. The purpose of this analysis was to examine the positive and negative aspects of the NVQ, both the structural and the contextual, from the candidate's perspective and to generate hypotheses that can be tested by further research.
