The Man of Mode: Or, Sir Fopling Flutter. A Comedy. Acted at the Duke's Theatre

Our protagonist, if he can be called that, is named Dorimant. Young Bellair admits to having written a letter promising his acquiescence to his father's will in due time so as to deceive him. He may have it soon though, for , his new lover, plans to go to his old lover, Mrs.

The Man of Mode: Comedy and the Masquerade

How and why does Etherege use it in his comedies? Her mother arrives and says she has heard Dorimant, whom she has never actually met, is around and therefore they must leave. Loveit encounters Fopling she acts flirtatious, in spite of not liking him and succeeds in making Dorimant jealous. In some ways his career resembled a typical Restoration comedy.

The Man of Mode Summary

Expert restoration to title page, upper corners of several leaves, and rear leaf minimally affecting text. Of particular value to collectors as evidence of a very early form of the book. He may have traveled in France during this time.
